MEMBERSHIP

There are two categories of members, sponsoring and ordinary. All members (sponsoring and ordinary) may attend and vote at the Annual General Meeting (held in London in September), and purchase any of the Society’s publications direct from the Society at 20% discount. Members receive the rules of the Society and an annual letter. Members who supply an email address receive notification of new publications (unless they request not to).

Sponsoring membership

£25 for one year or £100 for five years

Sponsoring members also receive free (and post-free) one volume each year. (Note that The Dictionary of Pāli Proper Names and the Pāli Tipitaka Concordance cannot be chosen as a free book.)

Ordinary membership

£12 for one year or £48 for five years.

Ordinary membership confers no rights to receive publications free (or post-free).
PLACING ORDERS

Both non-members and members may place orders directly with the Pali Text Society on-line at www.palitext.com, by email (pts@palitext.com), letter, or telephone (+44 (0)7436 534 179).

When ordering books, please be sure to distinguish original texts in Pali from their translations by using Pāli titles for texts in Pāli and the English titles for translations; for example, do not ask for the Visuddhimagga if you wish to receive its translation, The Path of Purity.

TRADE ORDERS

Outside North America trade orders should be placed directly with the Pali Text Society. Within North America trade orders should be placed with Pariyatti Wholesale.

PAYMENT

1. By PayPal (Please use our payment address orders@palitext.com)
2. By credit card via phone or letter: MasterCard, Visa, and Visa Debit.

ABOUT THE PĀLI TEXT SOCIETY

The Society was founded in 1881 by T.W. Rhys Davids “to foster and promote the study of Pāli texts”. It publishes Pāli texts in roman characters, translations in English and ancillary works including dictionaries, a concordance, books for students of Pāli and a journal. As this List of Issues shows, most of the classical texts and commentaries have now been edited and many works translated into English. The Society aims to keep almost all its publications in print and to produce at least two new books and a volume of its Journal each year.

The Society is non-profit making and depends on the sale of its publications, on members’ subscriptions and on the generosity of donors. Alongside its publishing activities, it provides Research Studentships for a number of people in a variety of countries who are working in the field of Pāli studies. It also supports the Fragile Palm Leaves Project, which is involved in the conservation and identification of South-East Asian manuscripts.

PĀLI LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

Pāli is the name given to the language of the texts of Theravāda Buddhism, although the commentarial tradition of the Theravādins states that the language of the canon is Māgadhī, the language supposedly spoken by the Buddha Gotama. The term Pāli originally referred to a canonical text or passage rather than to a language and its current use is based on a misunderstanding, which occurred several centuries ago. The language of the Theravādin canon is a version of a dialect of Middle Indo-Aryan, not Māgadhī, created by the homogenisation of the dialects in which the teachings of the Buddha were orally recorded and transmitted. This became necessary as Buddhism was transmitted far beyond the area of its origin and as the Buddhist monastic order codified its teachings.

The tradition recorded in the ancient Sinhalese chronicles states that the Theravādin canon was written down in the first century BCE. The language of the canon continued to be influenced by commentators and grammarians and by the native languages of the countries in which Theravāda Buddhism became established over many centuries. The oral transmission of the Pāli canon continued for several centuries after the death of the Buddha, even after the texts were first preserved in writing. No single script was ever developed for the language of the canon; scribes used the scripts of their native languages to transcribe the texts. Although monasteries in South India are known to have been important centres of Buddhist learning in the early part of this millennium, no manuscripts from anywhere in India, except for one in Nepal, have survived. The majority of the manuscripts available to scholars since the PTS began can be dated to the eighteenth or nineteenth centuries CE and the textual traditions of the different Buddhist countries represented by these manuscripts show much evidence of interweaving. The pattern of recitation and validation of texts by councils of monks has continued into the 20th century.

The main division of the Pāli canon as it exists today is threefold, although the Pāli commentarial tradition refers to several different ways of classification. The three divisions are known as piṭakas and the canon itself as the Tipiṭaka; the significance of the term piṭaka, literally “basket”, is not clear. The text of the canon is divided, according to this system, into Vinaya (monastic rules), Suttas (discourses) and Abhidhamma (analysis of the teaching). The PTS edition of the Tipiṭaka contains fifty-six books (including indexes), and it cannot therefore be considered to be a homogenous entity, comparable to the Christian Bible or Muslim Koran. Although Buddhists refer to the Tipiṭaka as Buddhavacana, “the word of the Buddha”, there are texts within the canon either attributed to specific monks or related to an event post-dating the time of the Buddha or that can be shown to have been composed after that time. The first four nikāyas (collections) of the Sutta-piṭaka contain sermons in which the basic doctrines of the Buddha’s teaching are expounded either briefly or in detail.

The early activities of the Society centred around making the books of the Tipiṭaka available to scholars. As access to printed editions and manuscripts has improved, scholars have begun to produce truly critical editions and re-establish lost readings. While there is much work still needed on the canon, its commentaries and subcommentaries, the Society is also beginning to encourage work on a wider range of Pāli texts, including those composed in South-East Asia.

The collection of monastic law, the purpose of which is to regulate life within the community of monks and nuns as well as their relationship with the laity. The collection deals with the rules relating to individual conduct and with the legal procedures and formulae used by the community as a whole. It is divided into three sections, the first of which contains the set of rules for monks and nuns (the Pātimokkha), which is an independent text according to other Buddhist schools. The Vinaya-piṭaka also contains a large number of stories and biographical material relating to the Buddha. (The Pātimokkha is contained in Vols. III and IV of the text and in Vols. I, II, and III of the translation.) Translation: The Book of the Discipline.

The Group of Discourses
ISBN 0 86013 303 6 £35.75
Translation of Suttanipāta. The fifth text of the Khuddaka-nikāya of the Sutta-piṭaka, consisting mainly of verses, apparently compiled from a number of sources. Two chapters of the Suttanipāta are mentioned by name in other Pāli canonical texts, and the commentary upon them is also included in the canon. It is apparent that this text contains some of the oldest Pāli poetry. For paperback edition (without notes) see The Rhinoceros Horn.

The Guide
ISBN 0 86013 024 x £29.25
Translation of Nettipakaraṇa. A treatise setting out methods for interpreting and explaining canonical texts, similar in content to the Peṭakopadesa and used by Buddhaghosa and other commentators. (Possibly 1st century BCE).

Translations of:

Vol. III: Buddhavaṃsa (Chronicle of Buddhhas) and Cariyāpiṭaka (Basket of Conduct). Last two books of the Khuddaka-nikāya of the Sutta-piṭaka. In the Buddhavaṃsa Gotama Buddha relates, in verse, the lives of the 24 Buddhas who preceded him, and his former actions in relation to those Buddhas. The Cariyā-piṭaka also relates stories in verse of Gotama Buddha in former lives, this particular collection being used to illustrate his mastery of the ten perfections.
Vol. IV: Vimānavaṭṭhū (Stories of the Mansions) and Petavaṭṭhū (Stories of the Departed). The sixth and seventh books of the Khuddaka-nikāya of the Sutta-piṭaka. The Vimānavaṭṭhū text consists of 83 stories describing the former meritorious actions that have led to individuals being reborn as gods enjoying life in celestial mansions (vimāna). The Petavaṭṭhū consists of 51 stories about departed ones (peta) who suffer because of bad action in former lives. Alternative translations (with the commentaries): Vimāna Stories, Peta Stories.
